ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The National Center for Disaster Medical Response, University of South Alabama Center for Strategic Health Innovation (NCDMR, USA CSHI) is pleased to announce the 2012 – 2013 Advanced Regional Response Training Center program (ARRTC 2012). This program is made possible by a grant with the Alabama Department of Public Health, Center for Emergency Preparedness through a cooperative agreement from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response. In light of the on-going and continued threats of infectious disease outbreaks, natural disasters, and terrorist attacks, it is apparent, if not critical, that education and preparedness training continue to be a priority. ARRTC 2013 is an updated and comprehensive approach to all-hazards disaster preparedness and response training. This all-inclusive curriculum has been designed to train participants on effective collaboration, challenges and issues facing disaster leadership. Participants will leave with the skills needed to go back to their community, facility, and/or workplace and teach others what they have learned, and to serve as effective leaders in disaster response.

For those who have never attended an ARRTC session, ARRTC 2013 will provide a basic, core knowledge of their job in an emergency, how to do it, how to make the best decisions, how to communicate needs and offers of assistance, and what the roles and responsibilities of others are in disaster response. For those who have attended previous sessions, ARRTC 2013 will provide a forum for knowledge exchange, reinforce lessons learned, and share recent updates.

Building upon the successes of the past seven years, ARRTC 2013 is designed for individuals charged with disaster response leadership for their organization. A variety of critical and timely issues will be covered such as Incident Command System (ICS), National Incident Management System (NIMS), and Surge Capacity issues.

ARRTC ROAD SHOW

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION:

ARRTC Road Show is a one-day course designed for key administrators and staff at all healthcare facilities in the state. Thirty-three (33) Road Shows will be offered at sites throughout the state of Alabama. The goal of this training is twofold: to bring ARRTC training on site to healthcare facilities across the state, thereby allowing participation by more staff; and to invite regional neighbors/response partners to the training for purposes of establishing and enhancing a common knowledge of the basics of disaster response for healthcare facilities. Key topics include: Intro to Hospital Incident Command System (HICS), National Incident Management System (NIMS) and National Response Framework (NRF); NIMS Compliance Requirements; Alabama Incident Management System (AIMS); Hazard Threat and Vulnerability Assessment and Disaster Response Plans; Altered Standards of Care; Chemical and Radiological Awareness; Biological Awareness; Decontamination and Personal Protective Equipment; Surge Capacity and Resource Management; Emergency Operations Center Activities; Medical Needs Shelters, Medical Reserve Corps; Strategic National Stockpile and Points of Dispensing; Evacuation: Essentials of Planning and Implementation with Table Top simulated drill; Fundamentals of Efficient and Effective Patient Handling during Evacuation with demo and hands-on practice; and current topics and unique events requested by ADPH.

ARRTC Road Show is designed for individuals charged with disaster response leadership for their organization including Hospital administration and staff (Nursing Directors, Training Directors, Physicians, and Administrators), Community Health Center (CHC) administrators and staff, EMS, EMA, Public Health, Nursing Home Administration and staff, Assisted Living Administration and staff, and Mental Health Administration and staff.
